CLUB INTIME AND FLÛTE MIDTOWN

Flûte Midtown is located in the space once occupied by the speakeasy Club Intime, which was run by the notorious former showgirl Texas Guinan. The club was raided by the police at 12:30am on April 17, 1929 and shut down just as the floor show was about to start.

Texas Guinan, mistress of Broadway's high revel for nearly a decade of the prohibition era, turned New York's night life into what she was fond of calling "an essential and basic industry." In the heyday of her success she converted an inconsiderable investment into a $700,000 profit in ten months, enriched the nation's idiom with a cascade of wisecracks, "nifties" and eccentric salutations, and spurred the government's purchase of padlocks.
